Our Service Offerings

Enterprise Content Management (ECM)

The Zia ECM offering demonstrates a return on investment by providing the following benefits:

Integrity: ensures content has integrity through proper version control.

Reuse/Distribution: producers create and access existing content; publish it to a variety of mediums.

Business Process Optimization: improve the production, review, approval and distribution of content across an organization.

Enterprise 2.0 Solutions

The focus of technology should always be on people. Zia enables our customers to gain tremendous competitive advantage by allowing their team to collaborate more effectively, respond more quickly to changes, and make better decisions. Adopters of Enterprise 2.0 solutions will find they have a more productive, engaged and informed team.

Data Management

Organizations have increasing demand for accessibility to information. It is critical to guarantee data security, consistency, and timeliness, while providing that data access. Zia's expertise in data management helps organizations implement effective data governance strategies. This governance is the key to effective data management and success.

Zia's Agile Solution Methodology

At its heart, our Agile-based methodology is centered on a close collaborative approach to maximizing value for our customers. Constant client communication is necessary to ensure that each development iteration addresses features with the highest business value, even if those features were unknown at the launch of the project.

what they're saying about us...

"Zia was contracted by Agilent in 2002 to design and operate the web lead generation engine known as Teleweb...It generates thousands of quotes each month with a substantial win rate...The Zia team is highly skilled, flexible, and incredibly insightful concerning the infrastructure behind Teleweb. I would highly recommend them for these types of projects/programs in the future and they will be the first place I call should I need similar experts in the future."

Robert Bellman, Program Manager
Agilent Technologies

"... Zia has been a pleasure to work with. Very professional, quality delivery, and with the flexibility and knowledge to fit all sorts of requirements."
