

Zia Managed Cloud Solutions: Your Content, Anywhere

The use of Cloud infrastructure continues to grow at an exponential rate, with almost an unlimited number of Cloud providers from Amazon, Google, and Microsoft to OpenStack companies that will enable and support Private Clouds.

While the benefits of the cloud are real and being recognized by enterprises around the world on a daily basis, virtually all of these Cloud alternatives are limited in their support and management of the actual business applications that people need to run their enterprise. And while there are organizations that provide "Cloud Templates" for applications from ECM to Portals to Document Capture, these are primarily focused on getting you started, rather than end-to-end and ongoing solution. For the reason, Zia Consulting has built a set of solutions that address the needs of Enterprises for application level management and support -- Zia Managed Cloud Solutions.

Providing services from assessment to architecture and design to implementation, Zia's Managed Cloud Solutions deliver the service level agreements and ongoing support that your enterprise applications require. Zia can work with your IT organization or work directly with your business units to supplement IT to provide your business applications with complete cloud solutions.
